

Friendship City with Kanazawa

Kanazawa City and Meguro City have a historically and culturally close relationship.

For example, Marquis Toshinari Maeda, who was the 16th head of the Maeda family (a former feudal clan lord of Kanazawa), had a main residence, Kyu Maedake Hontei, in Komaba, Meguro.

With this important background in mind, the two cities signed a friendship city agreement on October 27, 2017 to further deepen this mutual relationship, to promote the local and cultural characteristics of each city, and to cooperate in a variety of fields to contribute to the vitalization of both cities.

During the Hyakumangoku Festival, which will be held from June 1 – June 3 in Kanazawa, the Meguro Kanko Machizukuri Kyokai, the association of tourism and city planning, will run a booth to introduce Meguro City and to strengthen our friendship with Kanazawa.

The Rainy Season and Ajisai Matsuri (Hydrangea Festival)

In Japan, we have comparatively more rainy days from spring to summer, than during the other times of the year. We call this season, tsuyu (the rainy season).

In Kanto area, June and July are the rainy season. In June, we see the beautiful flowers native to Japan, called Ajisai (hydrangeas). The color of the flowers varies from pale green, white, indigo blue, to pale pink. That's why it has another name, nanahenge, or "seven changes".

Hydrangeas that bloom during the rainy season are special for Japanese people, so a lot of events and festivals with hydrangeas as the theme, are held in many places all around the country. In Kanto area, one of the most famous sites for hydrangeas is Kamakura. You can see the hydrangeas not only in the temples and shrines but also in many places within the city. The historical buildings and the landscape of Kamakura match very well with hydrangeas.

If you visit some parks in Meguro or Rinshinomori Park, you can find the hydrangeas so beautiful and fresh in the rainy season.

Let's enjoy the rainy season when hydrangeas are bursting into bloom.

Rainy Season in Japan - COOL BIZ

The coming season called Tsuyu (梅雨) in Japan is between June to July. It's also called the rainy season. During this time, it keeps raining for a long time every day, which often occurs in the southern area of Japan.

Tsuyu season changes its period depending on the year and doesn't have an exact date when it starts and ends precisely.

Mold really likes this season. It prefers warm and highly humid environment. That's why Tsuyu season is perfect for it. It's very important to prevent humidity and ventilate regularly to keep mold away.

Also 'COOL BIZ' starts around this season. It's one of the ideas proposed by the Ministry of Environment in 2003 targeting against global warming. It indicates 'Comfortable life style at room temperature 28 °C (82.4 °F) even with air-conditioning'. It recommends NO tie, NO jacket.

COOL BIZ is a coined *Japanglish phrase consisting of two words: COOL (meaning superb, refreshing) and BIZ(abbreviation of business). COOL BIZ period is between June 1st and September 30th; this period might vary depending on the location and climate. *made-in-Japan English

Interview with Our International Resident

We have the wonderful Janette Maxey here from Connecticut, USA. She has been living in Meguro City for 7 months and is learning Japanese from scratch at MIFA. She friendly accepted our request for the interview.

Q1.
You studied art at university, right? So how do you feel about Japanese culture? Do you have any interest in Japanese art or craft?

Yes, I have a B.F.A. in Painting with a minor in Western Art history. I paint daily life and culture around me; people, places, and things. Japan has a rich, deep culture.

I have just begun to really see. One example is Tea Ceremony. I like how it makes me feel in the moment and connected to the other participants, the beauty of the objects used, and the physical movement of the preparation.

There is so much great art in Tokyo! Kengo Kuma buildings are beautiful, so modern and warm, I admire the work ethic of Yayoi Kusama and of course the drawings of Hokusai. I have taken a beginner workshops in Ukiyo-e for carving at Adachi Foundation for the preservation of Wood Carving and a printing at Mokuhankan. I'll never be an Ukiyo-e master, but I have a deep respect for the artist and craftspeople who spend their lives to improve their vision of what is beautiful.

Q2.
Have you found some particular foods that were surprising to you?

What surprised me is how beautiful Japanese food is, and the high quality of eggs. Japanese eggs are the best I've ever had.

Q3.
Do you have a favorite shop around Meguro City?

I enjoy the second hand stores here in Meguro. The things I get from these stores have a history that I want to know. Where did it come from, who owned it, where was it made. It makes me feel more connected to the people of Japan.
